

This map was prepared with the intention to be useful for the prioritization of communities for further detailed studies, monitoring, awareness-building and preparedness-raising efforts. However, it may not be taken as basis for more far-reaching measures as it relies on incomplete knowledge and data as well as on assumptions that may or may not be true. Consequently, these limitations must be considered for the interpretation of the contents of this map (please refer to the main part of the report). The authors refuse any responsibility for loss of life or property as well as for any other detrimental effects caused by action or non-action based on the contents of this map.

High-mountain hazard and risk assessment in the Pamir
Appendix 8.2
Ice avalanche hazard and risk indication map

